NICU LIFE

Greyson Greene

Weeks at Birth: 24 weeks, 4 Days

Birth Weight: 1 lb. 7 oz.

Days in the NICU: 200 Days

Proudest Moment:

After his 4th surgery, Greyson pulled his breathing tube out immediately upon waking. I was so proud to see how strong and what an amazing fighter our son was, even under the worst scenario.

Editor's Note: WOW - Agreed!!!

PARENT TIP:

Find a book to immerse in that you can read at bedside.

ADVOCATE: HIE Awareness Month

A brain injury that is caused by oxygen deprivation to the brain, Hypoxic-Ischemic Encephalopathy (HIE) is sometimes diagnosed in preemies. So April is HIE Awareness Month. To learn more about HIE and its effects, what you can do and to get more support, reach out to our friends at Hope for HIE at their website: www.HopeforHIE.org or Facebook Page: Hope For HIE.

PREEMIE FREEBIE: Premie Birth & Angel Certificates

PremieWorld provides a number of free handouts to be used in the NICU and beyond in its "Freebies" section of the website.

This month's freebies are a Premie Birth Certificate and a Premie Angel Certificate. "We created these certificates to help families celebrate their preemie and when needed, their Premie Angel," notes Deb Discenza, Founder of PremieWorld. "These are PDFs that have fields for typing in the babies' information. NICU Nurses should be using these with all their preemie families."

TOOLS AND RESOURCES FOR THE PREEMIE COMMUNITY

TERM:

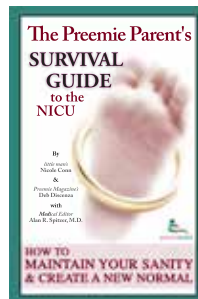

Gram

Gram: The metric unit of weight used in the hospital to weigh babies. 1,000 grams equal a kilogram which is roughly 2.25 pounds. And for you math geeks out there with pocket calculators, 1 gram=0.0022046 pounds.

Note: Weight is a significant factor in taking care of preemies as both a sense of progress and a factor in medicating. You may hear the term “dry weight” being used during rounds. This is what the doctors consider to be the more accurate weight of your baby than what he may actually show on the scale, since many babies retain fluid during their illness.

PREEMIE GENIUS:

APP: Peek a Boo ICU Preemie

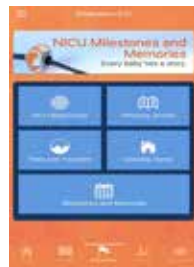

PeekabooICU
www.PeekabooICU.com

It seems like there is an app out there for everyone and that is definitely the case for preemie parents. PeekabooICU, a company that provides the very popular NICU Journey beads and bracelets has recently released a free app for preemie parents.

The app is parent-friendly with numerous personal touches so that it seems more like a solid friend to lean on during the NICU stay than simply a piece of technology. It educates parents on subjects such as feeding, growth charts, milestones, weekly developmental changes and tips, this app has it all. It even provides a nice bridge section to discharge day.

NICUs - add this one to your resource lists for families. As a time-saver on patient education, you will be glad you did.

AFTER THE NICU:

Planning A Baby Shower for Your Preemie

Never had that baby shower and now you are heading home or already at home? It is not too late. And you can create one that is RSV season-friendly thanks to a little technology.

- Set up a special group on Facebook and invite your friends (and make it secret so it is private).
- Provide some pictures of your preemie along with the invitation to the group.
- Add in a link to your fave baby site registry and let participants know that you would appreciate the gifts being shipped to you if at all possible.
- On the day of the shower, provide more photos of the special event and then at one point, provide a Facebook live video with the baby. Make sure to say thanks to all who attended this event.
