Premie parents are not immune and often do not realize how much the NICU has scarred them. June 27, 2015 is PTSD Awareness Day. Learn more at the National Child Traumatic Stress Network at www.nctsn.org Join the #preemiePTSD conversation on Twitter.

TOOLS AND RESOURCES FOR THE PREEMIE COMMUNITY

TERM:

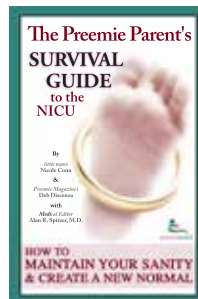

Postpartum Depression & PTSD

Postpartum Depression (PPD): Many new mothers get this type of depression (also known as the “baby blues”) after delivery or the first few months thereafter. Rather than the joys of having a newborn, the mother is depressed, crying, and often distant from her infant. So add that to a new Premie Mom and all of the medical barriers and it is a no-brainer that this has become so common in the NICU.

Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD): PTSD happens to anyone who has experienced a traumatic situation either short term or long-term. Triggers can happen day or night, asleep or awake. Like PPD, it is important to speak to a professional and gain support from family and friends. You are not being a drama queen or king; you have had the shock of your life.

Fact: Moms and Dads are at risk for both PPD and PTSD.

SUPPORT:

The Superhero Project

After having 32-week twin boys in the NICU herself, Kelly Gallagher saw firsthand the struggles of connecting with one's child, with practical needs while going back and forth from the hospital and more. So she started The Superhero Project to make life easier for families after her.

Established: 2015

Outreach: Pennsylvania & plans to go national

Website: www.superheroprojectinc.org

Programs: NICU baskets for the families, video cameras for the incubators, and in progress is the outfitting of a “Gift of Time” room on maternity wards for families to spend time with their infant that has passed with a Cuddle Cot, beautiful books, comfortable seating, a large washing station as well as cameras and flash drives.

PREEMIE GENIUS:

BAMBO Nature Diapers

by Abena North America
@ <https://www.Abena-NA.com>

One of the decisions left to the last minute in the NICU are diaper brands. With a fragile infant it is important to think out which brand of diapers will best help your infant thrive.

Abena's BAMBO Nature brand diapers are unique in that they are a premium diaper that is "Certified Safe & Eco-Friendly." To the average consumer that means no dangerous chemicals, no allergens, no perfumes.

For a preemie parent or a NICU, that means an infant that is likely prone to skin issues, allergies of all types gets a diaper that is better than the ones on the general market. This brand is a winner!

AFTER THE NICU:

PPD/PTSD Can Happen Later On Post-NICU

Postpartum Depression (PPD) and Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD) are common mental health issues in both Moms and Dads in the NICU. But also at home a good while after discharge. Connect with our partner, Mental Health America at www.MentalHealthAmerica.org for screening tools and access to help in your community.

If you think that you don't have the time to get help due to your child's needs, think again. There is direct research relating to PPD in parents and its effects on an infant's development. Get the help and you are helping yourself and your preemie.
