A NOTE FROM JENNY

This month, PremieWorld celebrates, "Read Across America," a time to celebrate reading. Why is fostering a love of reading so important? Reading is not only pleasurable but it is one of those activities that can help normalize an experience that can be anything but normal and help alleviate a stressful time for both parents and children.

With this in mind, PremieWorld is excited to announce The Books for Healing Partnership, a collaboration of PremieWorld, GLO Premies, Alliance for Black NICU Families and Jeff Lefko Books. The Books for Healing Partnership offers children's stories as vehicles for reaching underserved populations with important health information. Why children's books? Because, in today's complex world of information and disinformation and mistrust, they can go where nothing else can.

STEVEN GOUDY, MD, MBA

DIRECTOR OF PEDIATRIC OTOLARYNGOLOGY

Meet Steven Goudy, MD, MBA.

"Two of my three children were in the NICU for several weeks, which is a short time compared to many other families. From my personal experience, as well as watching many families go through a NICU stay, it is a long road. The most common analogy that I give families is that it is a roller coaster, there will be many highs and many lows, and sometimes you will feel your stomach in your throat," shares Dr. Goudy.

“ Pediatric ENT is a field where we are privileged to perform medical miracles to improve breathing, give the voiceless a voice and restore hearing. ”

"During her sixth day in the NICU, she became extremely ill with an infection that she tried her best to fight...We will never forget receiving the chilling middle of the night call on February 4th that changed our lives forever."
